Marbled Pots

Ideal for the girls in your family, a marbled pot is perfect to hold jewellery, small beauty products like hair ties and nail polishes or taillight candles.

You'll need:

- Matte white spray paint or white spray paint 'undercoat'
- Plastic painters sheet
- Newspaper/scrap paper
- Rubber gloves
- Disposable plastic drinking cups (1 per pot used)
- 1 large plastic container
- 2 small plastic containers
- 3 kinds of complimentary acrylic paint (white, grey, & black)
- Small jug of water
- Paintbrush or disposable fork
- Clear Coat glossy spray paint

Method:

- Outside, lay down painters sheet

- Spray 2-3 layers of matte undercoat/white spray paint onto each pot (wait for each layer to dry before doing the next)
- Leave to dry for approx. 60 mins
- Mix 2/3 water and 1/3 base colour acrylic paint (white) in a large plastic container

- Using the same water to paint ratio, mix into two separate vessels the two other acrylic paints (grey & black)
- Starting from lightest to darkest, flick and pour grey paint into the container of white acrylic, making patterns as you wish
- Add smaller amounts of second colour (black) in the same manner until mixed to you liking (less is more!)
- Using two hands and rubber gloves, roll undercoated pots clockwise into the paint, letting paint run into the inside and draining excess out one coated evenly

- One desired pattern is achieved, on newspaper or painters sheet, place pots bottom-side-down onto the rim of the plastic cups, balancing carefully
- Leave to dry for 24-72 hours (depending on thickness of paint coat) in a dry, cool area out of the weather/reach
- Once dry, using plastic cups again as a stand, spray 2-3 times with clear coat spray paint, making sure to coat evenly.

- Wait 8 hours to ensure they're dry.
